The theme for our first LitFest was “Moving away from mobiles to reading” as our centre staff noticed that children and parents alike spend too much time on their cell phones, which in the long term could cause health and behavioral problems.

In the days leading up to the LitFest, we got the parents involved in healthy debates on mobiles versus books, and also had them experience first-hand the joy a child derives from a well-told story!

On the big day, January 27, the campus was buzzing with different activities, including a poetry corner where parents and staff members could share their poems with the entire audience, a calligraphy corner where everyone tried their hand at this graceful art form, and the Angeline book corner where mothers
In addition to this, there were 22 stalls as part of the LitFest Funfair, with one minute language games, quizzes and activities, which the children and adults enthusiastically participated in!

We were delighted to see the creativity that flowed on this day – from our children, their parents and our staff – everyone learned something new and everyone’s appreciation of books and reading grew.

Centre wide celebrations of International Childhood Cancer Day 2018 in February
International Women's Day on 8th March 2018

International Women's Day is intended to celebrate the social, economic, political and cultural achievement of women. The theme for this year was PressforProgress - a global call to close the gender gap once and for all as we together press forward and embrace gender parity.

Manash Bora, a 15 year old young man being treated for Osteogenic Sarcoma, had to undergo an amputation of part of the leg due to the disease. Manash was absolutely dejected as he loves playing cricket more than anything.

Teachers touch your life
Your given knowledge is like an awesome day
But a day also has a sunset.
We feel proud that you to India came.
Best of luck for your future.
Bye-bye Alex mam.
